

My name is Kerry Angie and I have lived in Ledyard on Poplar Ridge Road for 10 years. My husband Tom and I walk into Aurora and pass the McGordon house regularly. We have marveled at how such a fine, old house could be uninhabited all these years and have wondered why there has been no effort exerted for its upkeep. Considering the neglect, I would say that the house is in recoverable condition. We have watched the nautical looking house near the college boat house receive new landscaping, flooring and other upgrades, the riparian border along the lake shore get uprooted and destroyed and the development of a garbage transfer station at the old farm house on Poplar Ridge, all the while wondering what the college priorities are. I do wonder whether the house would be slated for demolition if it were located at the north end of town rather than the south end.

Thank you for your time.

Kerry Angie
