Hello my name is Erin Weber and I am an alternate for the Community Preservation Panel. As such I have been able to sit in and be a part of the McGordon house demolition conversations.

Through all the conversations I have come to understand that the Laws in the village have caused the conversation to fall short.

I am aware that as it now states, the CPP nor the Planning board can obtain more information regarding future plans of the site, further information of the structural integrity of the property, go inside the building and many other questions still linger that make this application speculative.

So tonight I am here to ask the boards to please work on the new laws. It is necessary to expedite the process, if we want to have the freedom to ask all the right questions in the future.
